DAVID MORRELL

The father of the modern high-action thriller, David Morrell is the award-winning author of First Blood, the novel in which he created Rambo. He holds a Ph.D. in American Literature from the Pennsylvania State University and taught in the English department at the University of Iowa.

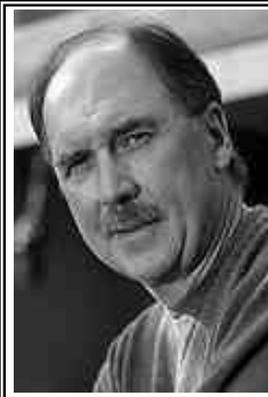

"The mild-mannered professor with the bloody minded visions," as one reviewer called him, Morrell is the author of 28 books, which include such bestsellers as The Brotherhood of the Rose (the basis for a top rated NBC miniseries), The Fifth Passion, and Extreme Passion (set in Santa Fe, where he lives).

DAVID MORRELL,

will give a 4-hour workshop of interest to writers as well as thriller aficionados, which will include a video of the making of First Blood, the movie made from the 1972 novel in which Rambo first appeared. Morrell will discuss his writing career, the making of a best seller, how the publishing industry has changed, common mistakes writers make, and will answer questions from the audience.

Morrell is Co-President and Co-Founder of the International Thriller Writers organization. With 18 million copies in print, his work has been translated into 26 languages. His latest novel, Scavenger, came out in March.

Workshop is $40—or $35 if registered by August 15th.
