

1 May 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

My students participated in an extensive study of the Holocaust that included reading Simone Liebster's story about her personal experiences during World War II. Simone's book provided students with the perspective about what happened to Jehovah Witnesses during the war. I loved being able to teach the Holocaust from various perspectives and experiences. In the ten years that I have been an educator, I have never encountered such an amazing learning experience as the one provided from Facing the Lion. It was truly an incredible opportunity to not only get to read Simone's story, but then get to speak with her live from France!! I cannot stress how this is an experience that all teachers need to integrate into their study of the Holocaust.

Anna-Marie Davis
8th Grade Social Studies Teacher
Orangewood K-8