To the families of the courageous firefighters:

I would first like to start by sending my condolences. I can not even begin to imagine what you guys are going through. When I first heard the news, I couldn't help think what I would do if I were to ever loose my father. Although my father is not a firefighter, he's still a father. By being a father you take on the task of be a leader, a protector, and a provider for the household. Your husbands/fathers/son, were much more then that; they were courageous, fearless, caring, giving, and protectors of the community. They took on task that hardly anyone is capable of. After I heard the news, I wanted to help in any way possible. I came up with an idea of holding a car wash here in my community of Chandler, AZ, on 4th of July. With the help of my family, friends, and community, we were able to raise $ in donations (most didn't even want their cars washed). I know it is not much but I hope it is something to help. Please know that you and your loved ones are always in our prayers. Thank you for taking the time to read this letter and may God be with you and your families.

Sincerely,

Celeste Dawes
