To whomever may read this;

I like the rest of our nation read about the tragedy your town has experienced. I also shed tears and cannot begin to comprehend the loss you are all going through. I read that several of those lost have little ones at home (my husband and I have a 3 yr old), little ones on the way, as well as wives, girlfriends and family and friends that are devastated. I hope my modest donation can help all of these folks in some way. I am sending this from a very small town in New Hampshire and believe me, many of my friends and family that I have spoken to are truly praying for you, hoping that at some point everyone is able to find a little peace. You will always miss these brave men and they will never be far from anyone's hearts. I was very glad to read on <http://www.prescottffcharities.org/how-you-can-help/> that the donations are "100% of any and all donations will go to the families of the fallen firefighters." That is AWESOME!!

Please accept my condolences, sympathies, and modest donation and know that people in all kinds of large and small towns, from all kinds of families, and economic backgrounds are thinking of you all and how else we can help. Being a mom, I do tend to think of the kiddos and I would even love to send toys, if this is a future plan? Anyway in the meantime.. please accept his and please convey my message of very heart felt sympathy to those who are suffering, including the young man who was their lookout, Brendan McDonough. I am sure his heart is aching and he is overcome with sadness as well.

Thank you for organizing such a wonderful, helpful, and genuine charitable drive.

Very Sincerely,
