SUMMER
1973

1973 International Auction and World Trade Fair

President's Message

As many of you have noticed, the School has received a considerable amount of world-wide publicity in the last year. There have been feature articles on the School put out by the Los Angeles Times news service, the United Press International, Industry Week, The Journal of Commerce, Administrative Management, the Copley news service, and more to come. This publicity has been very helpful to us in recruiting new students and faculty and has created growing interest in the School by prospective employers and financial donors.

Such off-campus projects as our summer program for 40 Thunderbirds at the Autonomous University of Guadalajara in Mexico and the exchange program of students and faculty with the Sung Kyun Kwan University in Korea contribute greatly to our worldwide image and reputation.

We are projecting a fall 1973 enrollment of 900 students, far and away the largest in the history of the School. Remember that all of these will be graduate students working toward an M.I.M. degree with a foreign language requirement for graduation. This graphically illustrates how your alma mater has matured over the years, and is rapidly becoming one of the quality graduate schools in the nation.

With this growth our needs for capital improvement of the campus become more urgent. We must start the refurbishment of the dining hall as soon as possible. Although our original figure for this project was $65,000, increased costs of materials, construction and labor have raised this figure to $83,000. We are approximately $48,000 short of our alumni giving goal. Won't you please put a check in the mail today to help us?

STATE DEPARTMENT DIRECTOR DELIVERS COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Mr. Howard E. Sollenberger, State Department Director of the Foreign Service Institute, was the featured speaker at the May '73 commencement exercises.

Speaking on "The Voice of America in the New Diplomacy" Mr. Sollenberger said: "It is too late for the United States to become an isolationist nation and turn from its dealings abroad. Although the U.S. has overextended itself in some areas and now is drawing back from them it does not mean the country is becoming isolated. We can't really turn back and isolate ourselves any more. We have become too interdependent.

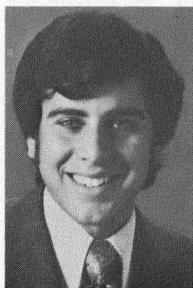

"While some people talk of a return to isolationism, the evidence is not that. We are moving out more as individuals.

"Increased foreign travel by American businessmen, students and scientists, has changed the face of diplomacy too. The government and military now are only a part of the American influence abroad.

"It used to be that diplomacy was the preserve of the career diplomatic service. It was a government to government. The new diplomacy is very much broader and has become more direct, from interest groups in one country to another. The future of foreign relations is more cluttered with problems than with solutions. The United States should encourage peace, narrow the widening economic and social gap between developed and underdeveloped nations."

The son of missionaries to China, Sollenberger also was director of the State Department's Chinese Language and Area School in Peking and served with the United Nation's relief and rehabilitation program in China.

SUMMER SCHOOL IN GUADALAJARA

Forty students from Thunderbird are participating in the School's pilot Summer Program at the Autonomous University of Guadalajara, Mexico.

Dr. Donald W. Baerresen, Academic Vice President at Thunderbird, working with Professor Alvan Roma de la Rosa, Director of the Graduate School of Autonomous University, initiated the program, which utilizes professors from both schools, but allows the entire session to be held in Guadalajara.

The program, which lasts ten weeks, is comprised of courses in three areas: World Business, International Relations and Advanced Spanish.

Dr. Baerresen commented "The great interest on the part of the students and professors, coupled with the generous cooperation received from the faculty members at Autonomous University, indicate that this program can be expanded greatly in future summers."

Thunderbird Professors Marshall Geer and Jorge Valdivieso are coordinating the program in Guadalajara.

HASTA LA VISTA JEAN

Faculty, staff and friends gathered in the Key Man Lounge on May 17th to say "farewell" to JEAN MYERS, Thunderbird's nurse for the past 22 years.

A generation of Thunderbirds will fondly remember that it was Nurse Jean who was always on hand to soothe their ragged nerves, diagnose their ailments, paint their throats, administer shots (on occasion), dispense aspirin, bandage their wounds and quite frequently to offer some much needed motherly advice.

Acting as master of ceremonies Berger Erickson, Executive Vice President, praised Jean for her service to Thunderbird, and Dr. Carl Sauer, President Emeritus, related some of Jean's humorous experiences during her early days on campus.

In anticipation that Jean would visit Thunderbird from time to time the School presented her with a set of luggage, and knowing how much she loved Indian jewelry and art the parting gift from the staff and faculty was a turquoise bracelet and brooch, and a sand painting.

Jean has returned to her home in Canada and will reside with her parents at 2524 Princess in Brandon, Manitoba. We know that she will look forward to hearing from her Thunderbird friends around the world. Is she really retiring? Jean says "Yes! I put my uniforms in a metal trash can and welded the top on."

HASTA LA VISTA JEAN — we shall miss you!

1973 INTERNATIONAL AUCTION AND WORLD TRADE FAIR GROSSES $7,500

It was April 14th, the day was bright and sunny, spirits ran high, the setting was unusual and exciting, booths displaying many exotic treasures from far away lands lined the central quad, Indians demonstrated the art of sand painting, Oriental and Latin dancers swayed gracefully, and Korean Tai Kwon Doo (a form of karate) experts exhibited their talents. It was the day of the third annual INTERNATIONAL AUCTION AND WORLD TRADE FAIR sponsored by the Thunderbird Women's Club.

Starting in early afternoon there was plenty of time for browsing around the shops before the International Dinner. The latter, a gourmet's delight, featured such delectable dishes as Paprikas Gzrike (a Viennese chicken paprika specialty), Ratatouille (a Mediterranean vegetable casserole), Chao-Ssu-Chi-Tou (a Chinese dish of fried string beans and water chestnuts), Selleriesalat Mit Apfelm (a German celery root and apple salad), Sillsallad (Scandinavian herring salad in sour cream sauce) and Medini Kurabaii (Bulgarian honey cookies).

Evening brought the International Auction and entertainment. Among the articles presented to the bidders were colorful Cuni Indian Molas from Panama; a Pakistani embroidered mirror wall hanging; a length of Korean embroidered brocade; a handcarved fertility doll of the Ashanti tribe of Ghana; pillow covers and a shawl of soft and deeply colored wool from Costa Rica; a framed original oil painting by 28 year old Anek Sunanont of Bangkok, Thailand; antique Mother-of-pearl lap desk; hand-embroidered table cloth and napkins from Portugal; elegant black and white Wedgewood fruit bowl from England; a Swiss music box; a two-hour blimp ride for six aboard the famous Goodyear blimp; a weekend in Las Vegas for two, a 9-inch Motorola TV; and much much more.

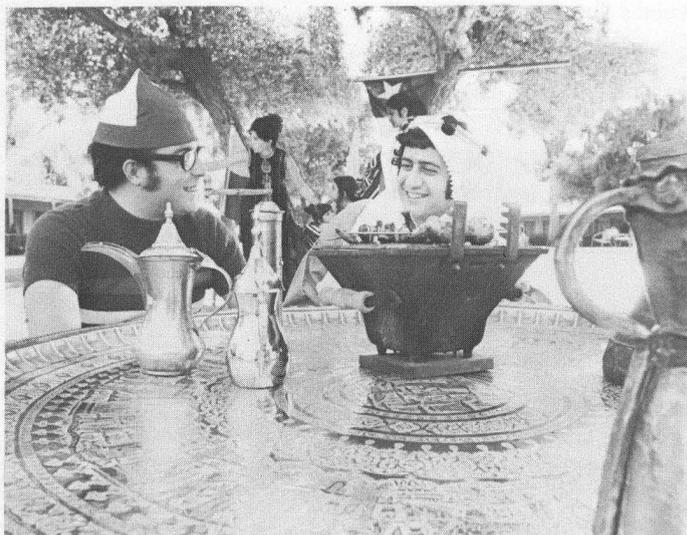

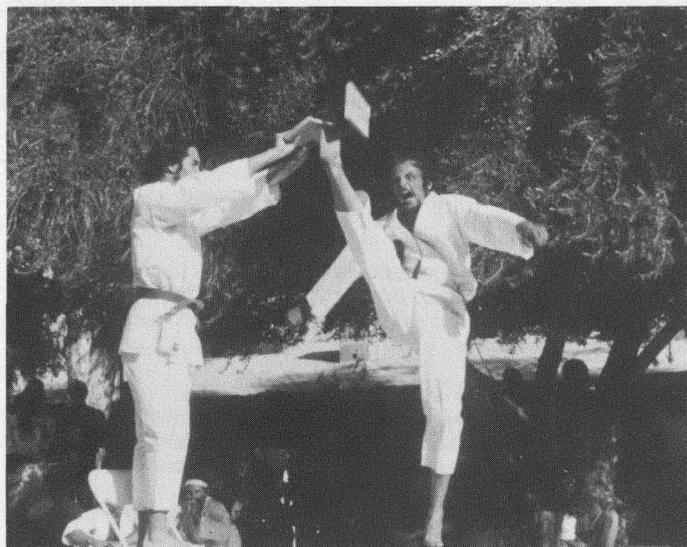

In the absence of the Consul General of the Republic of Korea, who planned to attend, President Voris drew the winning name for the two roundtrip tickets from Los Angeles to Korea (via Korean Air Lines) with stops in Honolulu and Tokyo.

The program offered Latin American and Oriental dancers and songs of the nations.

When they tallied up the profits the Women's Club was well rewarded for the months of planning and preparation. Gross profits amounted to $7,500, and after all expenses had been paid they realized a net profit of $4,500.

With $4,500 from the 1973 auction, plus $400 left over from last year's event, the Womens' Club now have the delightful tasking of spending the proceeds. At a recent meeting the Club members voted to sponsor the following: a $1,500 scholarship for a second or third semester fulltime female student; a Film Festival (classical and foreign films) for three semesters; colored TV for the Student Lounge, air-conditioning and carpeting for the campus nursery, and approximately $1,500 will be spent on major resource materials and course related books for the campus library.

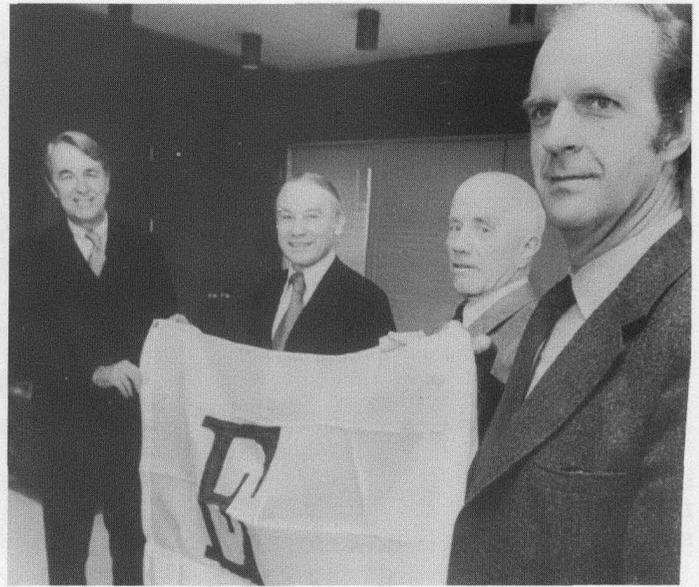

We thank our Thunderbird alumni and friends around the world for their generous donations. Although limited space precludes listing all the articles and donors we wish to give recognition and thanks to the following: Bjoen Alven '73; James Beattie; Kenneth Bennett '61; the Charles Bennis family '66; Cliff Bevens '50; Phillip Calkins '65; the David Carpitans '67; Larry Davis '73; the Michael Fenneys '66; the Jerome Gaarders '59; Dennis Ferguson '73; George Hardy '73; Gerry Heck '54; Kenneth and Sally Holbrook '66; the Robert Kidneys '60; the James Kohls '71; the Ralph Lamberts '66; Phillip Laney '71; Se Ung Lee '70; the David Longs '68; Milton Marsh '47; David Mayo '61; the Patrick McCormicks '70; Perry Melton '66; Matt Mc Nerney '73; Claus Morch '64; Robert Morehouse '53; Charles Niemann '62; the Robert Plachts '69; the Wayne Pulvers '70; Karl Rohrbough '52; the Mike Santellanes '60; James Scarlata '66; David Schmeltz

THUNDERBIRD NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT

For the next few months, we are doubling our fund raising efforts and hope to see a substantial rise in contributions. With a projected enrollment of 900 for September it is imperative that we complete the renovation and updating of the DINING HALL facilities no later than December 31st. We need the wholehearted support of all of our alumni to accomplish this aim.

As time goes on, many alumni become aware of the benefits they have derived as graduates of Thunderbird and, in turn, show their gratitude and their faith in the School by generously contributing to the Alumni Fund. Unfortunately, there are many alumni who do not annually contribute to the Fund. It is to those alumni that we now appeal. We know that you will take pride in seeing your name listed with your classmates on the CENTURY CLUB ROSTER or on the HONOR ROLL OF CONTRIBUTORS.

HAWAIIAN THUNDERBIRDS FETE JOHN ARTHUR

THROUGH THE COURTESY OF HAL FANNING of Honolulu we received the above photo of the Hawaiian group who royally entertained John Arthur, a 1957 alumnus and Thunderbird's College Relations Officer, when he visited the Islands last Spring.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ALUMNI MEET

A cocktail and dinner meeting was held by the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ALUMNI CHAPTER on Saturday, June 2, at the Roger Young Center in Los Angeles. Total attendance was approximately 60, including those who attended the cocktail party but were unable to stay for the dinner meeting.

After a very successful year, President Pat Hughes, stepped down and handed the gavel to Larry Lipsher the new President. Acting as Vice President for the coming year will be Wesley Kruse, with James Hyek taking over the responsibilities of Secretary-Treasurer.

We commend Pat Hughes and his slate of officers for the outstanding work they have done this past year—in establishing the Southern California Student Loan Fund, initiating the first of a series of Telefund Drives, establishing the Southern California Alumnus of the Year Award, and strengthening the ties between Thunderbird and the Southern California Alumni Group.

CAMPUS PARTY FOR ARIZONA ALUMNI

Forty-three alumni and guests turned out for the annual meeting of the ARIZONA ALUMNI CHAPTER held on campus on Friday, June 1st. We had hoped for a much larger group but apparently we picked the wrong date since it was the weekend following Memorial Day and many of the local alums chose that time for their summer vacation.

Socially, it was a very successful meeting and much time was devoted to reminiscing about the good old days at Thunderbird. Financially, it was a disaster, since 54 made reservations and only 43 showed—therefore, the Chapter treasury shows a deficit of $49.54.

After a quick election the following officers were chosen for 1973-74: Roland Willits, President; Boye De Mente, First Vice President; John Pope, Second Vice President, and Martha Snyder, Secretary-Treasurer.

NEW YORK ALUMS HOLD REORGANIZATION MEETING

Although we have had no direct report from the Coordinators of the May 20th reorganizational meeting of the NEW YORK ALUMNI CHAPTER we heard through the grapevine that some 50 Thunderbirds attended. The Sunday afternoon cocktail party was held at La Veranda on East 54th Street.

Rob Pegler, Phil Gibson, Bob Mosier and Gary Price are the guiding lights of the "rejuvenated" Chapter, and we understand that they are being advised by our old standbys Florence Mervis and Toby Madison, who played a great part in keeping the Chapter alive for some twenty years.

Newcomers in the area should contact Philip J. Gibson, 520 E. 72nd Street, Apt. 2P, New York 10021 — Telephone 879-5488.

WADLEIGH DONATES HOFFER BOOKS TO LIBRARY

The campus Library has received six books by Eric Hoffer signed by the author. The books, each inscribed with "TO THE THUNDERBIRD GRADUATE SCHOOL WITH WARM REGARDS" were donated to the Library by FRANK WADLEIGH, a 1949 alumnus.

The books in the collection are: FIRST THINGS, LAST THINGS; THE PASSIONATE STATE OF MIND; THE TRUE BELIEVER; THE TEMPER OF OUR TIMES; WORKING AND THINKING ON THE WATERFRONT, and REFLECTIONS OF THE HUMAN CONDITION.

Frank worked for radio station KIFN and Cahill Travel Service in Phoenix after graduation, and later joined Investors Diversified Services. He retired in 1968 and is currently residing in Portugal.

HOLMES NAMED PRESIDENT OF DALLAS CIVIC OPERA

JERRY LEE HOLMES '60 was elected President of the Dallas Civic Opera at a recent board meeting of the resident company held at the Dallas Country Club.

A former vice president and manager of the International Banking Services of the Republic National Bank in Dallas, Jerry retired in mid-1972 in order to manage his own cattle and real estate investments.

He has established endowments at The University of Texas (Austin) and Texas A & M University (College Station), where he is an honorary life member of the Texas A&M Polo Club.

He attended Texas A&M University of which he is a member of the Diamond Century Club. He is a member of the Chancellor's Council at the University of Texas (Austin) and director of the Dallas Charity Horse Show Association and a member of the Hickory Creek Fox Hunt Club.

His election to the Presidency of the Dallas Civic Opera was in consideration of his great love for the opera, and its need of someone with the time to devote to managerial responsibilities and his financial assistance to the opera in 1972 at a very critical time.

A former director of DCO, Jerry and his wife Nancy volunteered in 1972 to underwrite the cost of the third "sold out" "Pagliacci" performance for area school children. The two original performances of the Opera had been fully underwritten through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts plus ticket sales and contributions from Dallas Civic Opera Guild and Junior League of Dallas.

When the third performance came around the Civic Opera staff faced the task of finding the needed cash underwriting for the performance from local corporations, foundations and individuals. That's when Jerry and his wife stepped in with their offer to underwrite the cost of the third performance in order that an additional 3,400 children could participate in the program.

THE 8-DAY WEEK by JOHN WARD PEARSON '60

Many of the daily headaches of urban living would be alleviated by breaking the Monday through Friday work habit. In his new book, "The 8-Day Week" JOHN WARD PEARSON presents a blueprint for change — 4 days for work, 4 days for leisure. The book has been published by Harper & Row.

The author does not propose a 3 day weekend, an alternative that has serious drawbacks. Instead, he suggests that the work week be revised so that businesses are open 10 hours a day, 7 days a week. The work force would be divided so that one-half the people would be working, while the other half would have 4 days off. Further, workers on and off periods would be staggered evenly throughout the 8-day cycle so that on each day one-eighth of the people would begin a rest cycle.

This alternative has wide implications for life style and the economy. The author discusses the implications of this new system on such diverse areas as education, psychology, individuality, health, sports, marriage, child-rearing, economics and the way businesses are now operated.

The system would make it economically feasible for businesses to have employees work 35-hour weeks, thus offering the first substantial reduction in average weekly work time in 30 years.

To sum it all up, the system would reduce or eliminate traffic jams and public transportation crowding, job alienation would be reduced, increased leisure time would help reduce daily tension, it would enable people to pursue education, to become more involved in community activities, and spend more time with their families.

John spent one semester at Thunderbird in the Fall of 1959, and at present is President and founder of a successful marketing and advertising company in New York City.

WITH APOLOGIES TO THE RENAULTS '71

In January, one of the Philippine Thunderbirds (wish we could remember who) visited the alumni office and reported that the LANCE RENAULTS were the proud parents of a baby boy. Apparently they were referring to young Marc who arrived in December '71.

Knowing that the second Renault heir was on its way we included the news in the Spring '73 alumni publication. In May, SUE writes from the Philippines: "Naturally, being editor of the alumni bulletin, you have to have a nose for news. But I'm wondering if you're using extraordinary measures to get your scoops—are you psychic? clairvoyant?—or on a direct line to the Big Upstairs? We received the Spring issue of the publication a couple of weeks ago and I read in the Cradle Roll section that Lance and Sue Renault had a boy. Three days later, I went to the hospital and, lo and behold, our second son arrived! How did you know? With powers like that, you could make quite a name for yourself!"

We offer our apologies to the Renaults and correct the news item: ALEXANDER JEAN RENAULT actually arrived on May 10, weighing in at 7 pounds.
